I Love You, You're Perfect, Now Change:

We're missing a piano player, but it may be figured out. Foggy Bottom will provide coffee, Sharon will liaison with the owner to determine more details. We will provide a sign and such advertising how neat they are. John has been looking around for tablecloths, Mervyn's had ugly ones, Al had expensive ones; he'll check at Gordon Food Services next. 6 people per table, 8 tables, and have some more ready. The set will be painted on Saturday. It's built. If anyone wants to sit in on the dress rehearsals to use "director eyes", it would be helpful to get some constructive criticism. An e-mail will be sent out next week. We'd like to get someone to talk shortly before each show about 25th anniversary and Oklahoma. Jenna will

Oklahoma:

"Oklahoma!" Update: I am meeting with Valerie Wilkinson this week to go over the SM position and she also is going to share some contacts she has for lighting, props, and costumes. I hope some of the leads pan out. Also, it was confirmed to me that Tyler Driskill is still planning on serving as rehearsal accompanist for us. If we can get DCO to be the pit then we would have several options for MD. Bridgit is, of course, always welcome. Tyler might not mind stepping up if he doesn't have to worry about recruiting the pit. I know Tyler didn't want to over commit this summer but it might be doable with an AMD (Amanda?) and rehearsal recordings that Tyler could make. The bottom line is that Tyler is planning on this and passed up a couple other opportunities (including CAP) so I think it is crucial that we make it work out with him accompanying at least.
